

HUNDREDS OF UNIONS SIGN

City And County Candidates To Be Elected Tuesday

Several Of Candidates Have Nominations Of Both Parties For Election

SPECIAL ISSUES IN SOME DISTRICTS

Somewhat different from the general election on Tuesday, November 4, promises to be a rather mild contest in Lawrence county. Four of the important offices are already decided, the candidates having both Republican and Democratic nominations. These are John A. Edgar for prothonotary and clerk of courts, Andrew M. Dadds for county controller, Don I. Neal for county treasurer and B. N. Hanlon for city treasurer.

There is one state-wide office to be filled, that of judge of the superior court. For this John S. Fine of Luzerne, who is presently serving by appointment is the Republican candidate and Ivan J. McKendrick of Cambria county the Democratic candidate. Judge Fine was appointed by Governor James H. Duff to fill the unexpired term made by the resignation of Judge Charles E. Kenworthy about a year ago.

Local Tickets

Two candidates appear on each of the Republican and Democratic tickets for county commissioners. The Democrats have Joseph F. Travers and Arsen F. Armond. Only three of the four will be elected and the fight seems to be between the two Democrats for the one place.

For coroner the Republican candidate is Charles E. Allen, and the

Pa New Observes

It is reported that on the place of Arturo Graziani of 1038 Butler avenue, they are still picking strawberries, and have lovely flowering roses, besides other flowers.

Word comes from a resident along Butler avenue, of route 422, that quite a number of Ohio hunters went by this morning, four and five in a car. Those that have been journeying into the country during recent weeks report there is not much game.

Motorists at the intersection of North and Mercer streets were rather confused for a time on Friday afternoon. A large truck passing by grazed the traffic light and put it out of commission. For a time, until the light was repaired, only yellow and green signals showed with the red light blacked out.

Offerings to be taken in the churches of the community Sunday for the benefit of the Community Chest, should aid in putting the drive over the top.

Looking at the calendar Pa New finds that the next four National holidays fall on Thursday. These are Thanksgiving, Christmas, New Years and Lincoln's birthday.

With the razing of the old Whaley home on East Washington street, for which bids have been advertised, another old city landmark will disappear.

West Side motorists are traveling cautiously these days. Falling leaves on the old street car tracks, West of the school house on West Washington street, makes driving conditions treacherous.

There were 117 babies born at the Jameson Memorial hospital during the month of October, hospital records reveal. Of this number, 64 were boys and 53 were girls. In October a year ago, there were 136, an all time record for that month. While births have fallen off the last few months, there will likely be a new annual record established this year, as the number of birth for the first six

Confidence Vote To Be Asked By House Probers

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—The House un-American activities committee has decided to seek a "vote of confidence" from the House membership on its investigation of communism in Hollywood.

Rep. McDowell (R) Pa., a committee member, revealed today that the group will ask the House when Congress reconvenes in special session on Nov. 17 to "vote up or down" the action taken by the Hollywood probers in citing ten screen personalities for contempt.

The committee has been accused in some quarters of violating the civil rights of the ten Hollywood writers, directors, and producers who refused to say whether they were members of the Communist party.

McDowell said that the committee decided to ask the House to pass upon the citations and thus "place its stamp of approval on the action taken or show its disapproval." The Pennsylvania said the committee is confident its position will be overwhelming up-held.

As Congress is not now in session, the committee could send its citations to House Speaker Martin (R) Mass., who would sign the necessary papers and forward them to the United States attorney in Washington for grand jury consideration. Thus no House action would be required.

State Small Game Season Is Opened

Season Opened Today After Governor Lifted Hunting Ban Friday Afternoon

HARRISBURG, Nov. 1.—(INS)—A month-long small game season opened today in Pennsylvania amid a prediction by the State Game Commission that hunters would enjoy only "fair" bags.

The season opened as scheduled after Gov. James H. Duff rescinded a proclamation closing forests to the public because of the danger of fire. The proclamation was withdrawn at noon yesterday after he was advised that sufficient rain had fallen on tinder-dry forest-lands.

There will be plenty of ammunition but fewer rabbits, pheasants and quail to shoot than in recent years, the commission reported.

Typhoon Isolates Clark Field In The Philippines

MANILA, Nov. 1.—(INS)—Clark Field, headquarters of the U. S. Thirteenth Air Force, was isolated from communication with outside points today as a typhoon slashed over Luzon Island northwest of Manila.

The U. S. Army in Manila announced that only few reports on damage done by the typhoon had been received from areas north of Manila and none at all from Clark Field.

Army authorities said both radio and telephone communications at Clark Field were disrupted by the storm. They expressed anxiety over the communications black-out.

The typhoon, labelled "Typhoon Cathy", swept over Samar Island in the Central Philippines Thursday.

Lieut. Mountbatten In First Official British Ceremony

LONDON, Nov. 1.—(INS)—Lieut. Philip Mountbatten—who as England's future prince consort will find himself increasingly in the public eye—performs his official ceremony in Britain today.

The lieutenant is to open a War Memorial Garden of remembrance at Corsham in Wiltshire. He was station at the naval barracks there during the war.

To Election Boards!

On Tuesday another election day rolls around. As on previous occasions when the voters of the city and county were going to the polls, The News asks the cooperation of the election boards in all precincts of the city and county in aiding in early compilation of the returns of the voting.

Members of all boards are asked to call The News, Phone 4000, as early as returns are available on Tuesday night, and give their precinct results.

At the last election there was a fine response from the boards, and The News anticipates an equally good response on Tuesday night.

Thanks in advance for your cooperation!

Three Armed Men Get $60,000 In Loot

PASSAIC, N. J., Nov. 1.—(INS)—Three armed men entered the home of a retired Passaic clothing contractor early today and made off with an estimated $60,000 in jewelry, furs, and silverware.

David Reinfeld and his wife were entertaining three guests in the living room when the holdup trio forced their way in.

One of the bandits kept the occupants of the house in the living room at gun point, while his mates ransacked the Reinfelds' valuables, including a diamond ring estimated to be worth $30,000 and $800 in cash.

U. S. Proposal On Palestine Surprises U. N.

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

FLUSHING MEADOWS, N. Y., Nov. 1.—The United States plan for Britain's withdrawal from Palestine and establishment by next July of independent Arab and Jewish states is expected to encounter stormy opposition in the United Nations today.

Delegates at Flushing Meadows, where the General Assembly is in plenary session again today, were caught by surprise by the new American bombshell.

A large number of delegations said they communicated the U. S. proposition to their home governments and do not expect instructions before next week.

Britain's colonial secretary, Arthur Creech-Jones who came to New York recently to conduct the British case on the Holy Land in U. N.—is leaving for London today to consult foreign Secretary Bevin.

Convict New Jersey City Commissioner

BRIDGEPORT, N. J., Nov. 1.—(INS)—City Commissioner Lewis R. Hogan of Millville, was found guilty today of malfeasance in office.

Hogan, 62, was accused of extorting graft from Millville gamblers. Former Supreme Court Justice Joseph B. Perkies, in his summation, had pictured Hogan as a hypocrite who kept respectable company by day and consorted with underworld characters at night.

Harry Green, the commissioner's counsel, asked acquittal for the "little man, modest and honest, but too naive to cope with a gang of sharpshooters out to get him."

The crime carries a maximum penalty of 21 years imprisonment and a $7,000 fine.

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Nov. 1.—(INS)—Delbert Miller, 40, of Wilkes-Barre, today critically wounded his wife with a pistol and then went to a mountain top seven miles away and attempted suicide as the aftermath to a week-old quarrel.

Police said Miller had shot himself in the head and was in a serious condition. He had driven his automobile to the secluded spot where he was found by police.

His wife, Rachel, shot as she emerged from a local plant, was reported in good condition at Homeopathic hospital where she was taken with her husband.

Unify Command Of Army-Navy In Caribbean Area

Secretary Of Defense Forrestal Announces Another Link In Merger Of Forces

By JAMES LEE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Secretary of National Defense James V. Forrestal today announced establishment of unified Army-Navy command in the Caribbean, forging another link the preparedness chain created by merger of the armed forces.

Ordered by the joint chiefs of staff, the unified Caribbean command is under the overall control of Lieut. Gen. Willis D. Crittenger, U. S. A., who during World War II command the fourth corps in the Mediterranean area.

Title of Commander

Crittenger carries the title commander-in-chief Caribbean (Cinccarib) and with certain exceptions has been assigned all United States forces in the islands of the Caribbean and in the strategic Panama Canal department.

The new command, Forrestal pointed out, is similar to those already established in Europe and in the Pacific.

Fleet facilities and fleet bases at Roosevelt roads, Trinidad, Guantanamo, and the fleet airwing and vessels temporarily based in the Antilles will remain under the operation control of Admiral William H. P. Blandy, commander-in-chief, Atlantic fleet.

Blandy, who was in charge of the historic bomb tests at Bikini, will continue to control all U. S. naval forces in the Atlantic except the fleet airwings and other fleet units assigned to bases under Crittenger.

Prepare To Put Chest Over Top

Workers Will Make Final Effort To Reach $102,100 Goal During Coming Week

New Castle's Community Chest workers were poised today to wind up the current campaign with redoubled efforts. Over $17,000 still remains to be collected or pledged to put the drive "over the top."

Chairman George F. Winter called upon each of his workers to make next week a busy one and also called upon each citizen who has not yet given to do so.

"We still need several thousand dollars to go over the top," he explained, "and I am sure that the citizens of the greater New Castle area will not see the campaign fall short. Other communities have met their quotas and I have faith we can do the same."

Collections in the churches Sunday are expected to add a considerable amount to the total, it was announced.

Seven of the divisions in the effort have already reached their goals with many more near the top.

Court Gives Permit For Protest Meeting

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 1.—(INS)—The U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled today that the Progressive Citizens of America may use Independence Square this afternoon for a meeting to protest the congressional probe of Communists in Hollywood.

Judge John Biggs, Jr., announced the decision a bare two hours before the rally was to be staged.

The court denied a petition for supersedeas by Nathan Rambo, chief of city property.

Youngsters Of City Have Annual Halloween Fun

Halloween had a competitor Friday night, King Football, and it did seem that football came out a little the better. Over the city the youngsters dressed in their grotesque costumes, visited the homes in the neighborhood and collected candy and cookies, but most of it was done before game time. After the game it was too late.

A check of the Halloween season reveals that the minor depredations usually committed, were held to a minimum this year. There were some instances of porch furniture being parked on poles, windows being soaped, and other minor annoyances that have been associated with Halloween ever since the Halloween witch took her first ride on a broom.

Oldest B. & O. Yard Conductor Retires

Above is shown Daniel R. Peterson, yard foreman at the New Castle Terminal of the B. & O. railroad, standing on the front of one of the yard engines, on the last day of his career as a railroadman. Mr. Peterson retired Friday as the oldest yard conductor on the B. & O. system.

After 49 years of railroading, the last 45 of which have been spent right here in New Castle by the B. & O. railroad, Daniel R. Peterson of 1309 Wilmington avenue, was able to yawn and turn over in bed this morning and snatch that extra 40 winks, safe in the knowledge that he would not be doctored one cent for his wages.

The reason is that Dan retired yesterday as yard foreman in the New Castle terminal yards. He was the oldest yard conductor on the system. The only reason, he will have now for putting on his old overalls and working hat will be that the missus has a chore laid out for him in the backyard.

Starting on the Pennsylvania railroad here in April, 1898, Dan heard the call of the west, and went to Chicago where he worked around the lake metropolis with the Chicago & Northwestern, and then drifted down to St. Louis for a year or so with the Bridge & Terminal road before deciding that there were still some good jobs open back here in New Castle. So he came back to do a job of braking on the P. & L. E. and then to the B. & O. where he finally worked his way up to conductor and then to yard foreman. He has

Two Suspects Held By Police In Big Holdups

(BULLETIN)

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 1.—(INS)—Two men were arrested today by Cambridge police and were grilling as suspects in connection with two Boston payroll robberies which netted $137,325.

One of the men is a long sought convict who escaped in a Charleston state prison break.

Boston police went to Cambridge to question the men about the holdups. A gang of six men grabbed $107,977 at the Sturtevant Blower Company plant in nearby Hyde Park Thursday, and yesterday bandits took $29,348 from the American Sugar Refining Co. office in South Boston.

Police said that both stickups appeared to have been engineered with the aid of employees of both plants.

Leaps From Window

George E. Hayes, 30, Waltham, who escaped last Sept. 19, was captured outside a Cambridge apartment, where he lay writhing in pain with a broken pelvis. He had leaped 40 feet from a window to escape capture as a prowler.

A second man, about 30, was caught while visiting the apartment of a young woman in a block

U. S. Control On Credit Buying To End Tonight

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—(INS)—Government controls on installment buying end at midnight amid reports that President Truman will ask the special session of congress to re-impose the six-year-old regulations.

Reliable sources said that the president will include a recommendation for revival of the credit controls in his program to combat high prices.

Meanwhile, "credit associations said that they are not going to capitalize" on the removal of the controls but indicated that some changes will result.

No Big Relaxation

Chances of a return to the practices of prewar years when small down payments and long terms were the custom appeared dim, however.

Spokesmen for the credit associations listed these reasons against any possible large-scale relaxation of credit terms:

1. The possibility of congressional renewal of controls if terms are loosened too much, resulting in further inflationary trends.
2. Customers are able to meet high downpayments and shorter installments.
3. In event of a depression, easy terms might leave the merchants "holding the bag".

AWARDED HERO MEDAL

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 1.—(INS)—Michael Albanito, 49 year old Punxsutawney, Pa., invalid, today was awarded the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission's bronze medal for saving a seven-year-old youngster from drowning in a flooded stream.

The commission said that Albanito, who suffered from a heart ailment saved J. Earl Woodford, an Elk Run in Punxsutawney on June 21, 1946.

Albanito jumped into eight feet of water and groped for the youth, who drifted against him. He then carried Woodford up a steep bank to safety.

Non-Communist Affidavits Are Filed By Unions

Avalanche Of Affidavits Reaches N.L.R.B. In "Last Minute" Period

SOME UNION HEADS REFUSE TO SIGN

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—The National Labor Relations Board waded through a last-minute avalanche of non-Communist affidavits today to determine what unions are in compliance with the Taft-Hartley law and eligible for its services.

An NLRB spokesman said it may be a week or longer before the board completes its analysis and decides which cases among a pending backlog of 3,500 are to be thrown out for non-compliance with the new labor statute.

Murray-Lewis Hold Out

CIO President Philip Murray and United Mine Workers President John L. Lewis are among the major union leaders who refused to sign affidavits disavowing communism before the deadline of last midnight.

The deadline applied to the backlog of old cases which originated prior to the August 22 effective date of the Taft-Hartley Act. In new cases coming before the NLRB, union officers are given 20 days to file the affidavits if they have not already done so.

Murray, who also heads the CIO Steelworkers' Union, challenged the right of the NLRB to dismiss some 20 cases, in which the steelworkers are involved, because of his non-compliance with the filing requirements of the law.

The CIO chief said the proposed dismissal would violate the due

Houdini's Spirit Again Fails To Make Appearance

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 1.—(INS)—Taking their cue from the most famous ghost of them all—the spirit of Harry Houdini—the minor sprites of halloween left Pittsburgh practically untouched last night.

Midnight came and went without so much as a ruffle of the atmosphere while Harry Blackstone, the magician, and his cohorts waited for Houdini's ghost.

Before his death in 1926, Houdini, a debunker of spiritual quackery, had told his wife and close friends he would try to make his spirit return to earth and open a lock which he gave to Blackstone.

So last night, as on every halloween for the last 21 years, Blackstone waited in vain before a glass table on which the mysterious lock remained securely fastened.

Apparently Houdini's shade didn't like the bright lights of New York City, any better, because it "stood up" another "waiting for Houdini" committee there, headed by Joseph Dunninger, the mentalist.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—(INS)—The British foreign office denied today that Polish opposition leader Stanislaw Mikolajczk had passed through England en route to New York, and had seen Foreign Secretary Bevin.

Dr. Alice Wynekoop Will Be Released By Prison December 28

CHICAGO WOMAN DOCTOR, NOW 75, HAS SERVED 13 YEARS OF 25-YEAR SENTENCE

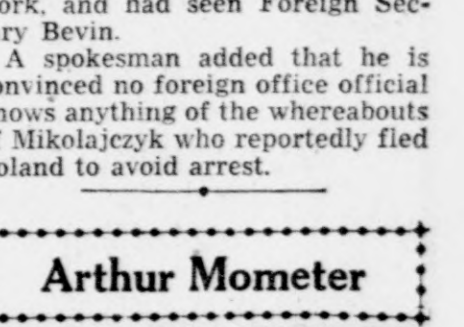

DWIGHT, Ill., Nov. 1.—(INS)—Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynekoop, 75, who was sentenced to 25 years in prison in 1934 for the murder of her daughter-in-law, Rheta, looked forward today to release from the Illinois State penitentiary at Dwight.

Dr. Wynekoop's release becomes automatic on Dec. 28. At that time she will have served 13 years and nine months, the full time of her sentence with time off for good behavior, for the operating table chloroform-pistol murder of her daughter-in-law.

Miss Helen Hazard, superintendent of the women's branch of the prison, said Dr. Wynekoop has refused to discuss her plans as to where she will live or what she will do.

Although Dr. Wynekoop required much medical attention while in prison, she outlived the judge who heard her case, her chief counsel and the state's attorney's investigator who obtained evidence against her.

The hush your hear is the candidate who is waiting with bated breath, for on Tuesday next he will learn the news, a win or political death. And he ponders long and he ponders hard as he thinks of the peoples' votes, and he wonders at times why he never went in for plumbing or raising goats. But his hat is inside the well known ring, and baring political tricks, he thinks he'll win at least he hopes, the weather is fifty-six.

Railroading Tough

Railroading was a tough job back in those days around the turn of the century. Cars were coupled with the link and pin, not the automatic coupler, and a fellow really took his life in his hands lots of times to couple the cars together or break them apart. Of course the cars and the locomotives which pulled them were dinkies, compared to the big locomotives, coppers and box cars and the modern mallets, those 2-8-4 jobs, which pull a train three or four times as long over hill and dale.

Mr. Peterson remembers that New Castle sprang into prominence as a terminal just about the time he came with them in 1902, when the Allegheny and DeForest terminals were done away with, and New Castle was made terminal point, serving these two districts. The yard here was enlarged in 1903, he recalls, and began to increase in size and importance.

A lot of the classification work was done right on the mainline tracks, and oftentimes passenger trains were flagged down, and switched around the drag of freight cars, before being sent on their way, a little bit behind schedule.

Mr. Peterson can also recall that limestone and coal were mined just a mile or so south of the terminal trainmaster's office, and that limestone was also dug out of the hills, and rolled down in little quarry cars to be dumped into gondolas and hoppers, at a point about halfway between Gardner avenue and Cherry street.

Present Yards Were Farmland. The old Sward and Hawthorne farms, whose unpainted farm homes still stand on the east side of the West Pittsburg road, were still being farmed, and only a few tracks on the main line cut through them instead of the maze of tracks there now. There was an orchard which extended to the banks of the Shenango river on the west in those days.

The old Raney & Co. Shenango Roller Mills, which ground out a lot of flour and feed, was still in operation just below Cherry street, and furnished some of the B. & O. business.

But all of those old things are gone. In their place are the big Diesel streamliners and the compound mallets, which haul loads which would have been scoffed at in those days, and at the hump, where Mr. Peterson has been hanging out of late, they have radio telephone to tell the engineer on the back end of the string how to bump them over the hump, where they go on down to a dozen or more tracks covering acres of ground to be made up into huge trains, which will go on their way as soon as they have been made up.

Mr. Peterson has seen a great deal of progress in his 45 years on the B. & O. Both of them will miss each other, but that is the way of life.

Just who will succeed Mr. Peterson is not definitely known today, but rumor has it that Samuel H. Taylor is the likely man for the job.

City Contests

In the city, Mayor John F. Haven is a candidate upon the Republican ticket for reelection with Carl W. Hauffler, Democrat, opposing him. For city council there are four candidates for two places. The Republican candidates are Richard I. Davis and Albert A. Hoyland, who is now in council. The Democrats are Clair M. Uher and Charles E. McGrath.

There are three school directors to elect. The Republican candidates are Dr. Wilbur E. Flannery who has both nominations, Alec Samuels and Dr. W. Fulton Jackson, who is presently serving. The two candidates on the Democrat ticket alone are P. Monaco and Albert Joseph.

Other Elections

There are many minor offices to fill. Election board officials will be named in each of the 99 precincts of the county. County assessors will be named and a number of aldermen and justices of the peace. In many of the townships, road supervisors will be elected.

One constitutional amendment is upon the ballot, that permitting the bonded debt limit of the state to be $500,000,000. The present constitutional limit is $1,000,000 save for authority to borrow up to $100,000,000 for highway purposes. The purpose of the proposed amendment is to supply "deficiencies in revenue."

In Neshannock township the voters will decide upon a $100,000 bond issue for needed school expansion. In Wampum the voters will decide whether or not Sunday motion pictures will be allowed and in Shenango township the voters will pass upon Sunday sports.

There has been little interest in the campaign, and it is feared the vote may be light.

months of the year was far greater than the first six months of 1946, when 1,275 babies were born at the hospital. Over 1,200 have already been born this year, with two months to go.

Barbara White, aged 12, of 102 W. Garfield avenue today bagged a bunny on her first hunting venture.

Of all the halloween costumes that came to Pa Newc's door last evening one of the most fetching was one Ophelia-like sheer white gown on a six-year-old. "It's her flower girl dress from when she was in her aunt's wedding," one of her companions volunteered. But it was her headdress that gave the Dahl touch. Pinned to her white head scarf were two bunches of violets, waving skyward, one over each eye.

Three of the larger lads out halloweening who stopped on their "second round" shortly after 9 o'clock last night said it was tough to have halloween conflict with the football game but "it's worth it," one said.

A very slight increase was noted in the birth record at the New Castle Hospital, during the month of October, with 60 infants being born. They were 35 males infants and 25 female infants. However, a new record was established at the hospital during this past month, when three sets of twins were born within one week. This is the first time the record occurred in the history of the hospital. In September, there were 56 infants born at the hospital.

Considerable number of spectators at the football game at Tanager stadium last night found that halloweeners had soaped their autos while they were at the game.

Last night was the record night of the year for porch lights in New Castle, the annual occasion when most every home in the city that had a porch light had it turned on. It was a halloween precaution and custom.

Bill McQuiston, of 1022 Becker street, brought into The News today, a queer looking insect known as the "Praying Mantis". The insect, which is approximately four inches long, is green in color and resembles a grasshopper. On its appendages are claw like pincers which are used in holding firmly the other insects it captures for food. The insect is harmless to man.

Expect Record Number. Nevertheless, a near record number of sportsmen was expected to try its luck in the woods possibly in an effort to solve temporarily the high price of meat. An estimated 800,000 licenses have been issued.

An invasion of out-of-state nimrods during the early part of the season was anticipated. Game officials said rains should improve hunting conditions since sportsmen would be able to get closer to quarry without being bothered by snapping twigs.

The department of forests and waters continued to issue warnings for extreme caution to prevent fires.

"The hunting season is open but we should remember that our forests are always in danger of fire," reported Secretary M. F. Draemel. "Rains during recent days have lessened the danger, though the woods are still in a condition that calls for cautions."

Hayes was serving 12 to 15 years for armed robbery. The second suspect denied knowing Hayes, but police refuted this claim.

NON-COMMUNIST AFFIDAVITS ARE FILED BY UNIONS

process clause and other amendments of the constitution. He asked for oral arguments before the board on the issue and a CIO official indicated the fight may be carried to the courts.

Lewis, who led an unsuccessful fight in the AFL against signing the affidavits, has some 200 cases involving UMW District 50 before the NLRB which now will be dismissed.

Flood Of Affidavits. The Taft-Hartley act forbids the board to process cases of unions whose officers do not disavow communism. Both Lewis and Murray are militant anti-communists but considered the affidavit requirement an "insult" and invasion of individual rights.

While these two labor leaders ignored the deadline, other union officers flooded the board with affidavits. An NLRB spokesman said the documents poured in "by the hundreds" in the past week.

AFL Secretary-Treasurer George Meany was among those to file an affidavit and AFL President William Green is expected to do so in a few days. This will enable AFL "federal locals" to utilize the board's machinery.

The NLRB also received a last-minute telegram from Walter Reuther, president of the CIO United Auto Workers, announcing that a majority of the UAW Executive board had voted to comply with the act. Reuther asked for preservation "of our rights in pending cases."

Non-complying unions may run into trouble. They will be denied a place on any NLRB collective bargaining election ballot if a rival union, which has complied with the law, seeks to "raid" their membership.

MUM'S THE WORD AT THIS SEASON

For the football game or the social affair at home, this is the season when "Mum's the word". We mean chrysanthemums of course, lusty fellows with shaggy heads, or the smaller pompons and their delicate makeup.

For a little time each year chrysanthemums are the flower for any purpose and this the time. Or perhaps you would like potted mums. We have them also.

FARMING ON FAITH

Continuing dry weather at a time when moisture is vital to the seeding of another wheat crop has caused concern, not only to the farmer but to the nation as well. This concern is prompted by the need for more food, of which wheat is the most dependable and adaptable commodity. Obviously global relief cannot be continued unless there is another bumper wheat crop next year.

Farmers of the Southwest wheat empire have made preparations for a large acreage, preparations which have been stymied by lack of rain. Only immediate and copious rains in the Southwest can avert damage to the nation's food economy.

Already it is being predicted the 1948 crop will be far below recent yields. This pessimism has not deterred land owners, who have gone ahead with seeding and will keep the drills in operation until the job is completed.

Tons of valuable seed have gone into powder-dry soil, to await the fortunes of wind and weather.

Whether the 1948 wheat crop will be a disappointment compared to those of recent years is in the laps of the gods. The law of averages is on the side of a small crop. But this prospect has not had the result of encouraging a sit-down strike by the farmers. They have seen dry weather before, many having gone through the dust bowl period undismayed.

The prospect of profit from large yields and high prices is pleasing, but the larger hope is for food for America. The wheat farmer has not lost faith in either his soil or his efforts.

GIVING TAFT-HARTLEY ACT TRIAL

With the Taft-Hartley Labor Act in effect only about two months, its provisions are rapidly being clarified. In its first decision on filing requirements for unions, precedent to collective bargaining elections, the NLRB has now ruled that a non-complying union cannot appear on a ballot if an election is being sought by another union whose officers have taken the anti-Communist oath.

The NLRB had previously ruled that the Taft-Hartley Act does not require non-Communist affidavits from all top AFL and CIO officers. This decision, which ran counter to the previous interpretations by the NLRB general counsel, Robert Denham, later received his concurrence.

There is no doubt that the intent of Congress with regard to some of the provisions of the new law has not been made clear, but the mists are now gradually disappearing. It is especially gratifying to find so many unions adopting the policy of giving the law a thorough trial as it stands instead of refusing to avail themselves of its service.

PATTON'S JOURNAL

Every famous battle in history has been fought again and again—once in fact and many times thereafter in the reminiscences of the men who had a part in them and in the critiques of the military experts. So it must be with the Allied invasion of Europe that began three years ago last June and with every aspect of the great campaign that followed.

Particular emphasis from now on will be on the circumstance that American strategy was slanted to permit Russia to become the scourge of Europe.

Right now the second Battle of France of World War II is being fought over in the journal kept by the late Gen. George S. Patton Jr., published in part by the Saturday Evening Post. In this General Patton warns of the probable consequences of permitting Russia to gain control of a great part of Europe.

Patton wanted to push forward after his spectacular sweep across France in August, 1945. He was convinced that if he had been permitted to do so the war would have ended sooner and with fewer casualties. But on the crucial day, August 29, the 140,000 gallons of gasoline he expected to get did not arrive. He laid it to a change of plan by the high command at the instance of Britain's Field Marshall Montgomery.

A special session of Congress has been called to take up relief, but not for the American taxpayer.

Pleasure driving gas has been banned in England. We still have gas but there's darn little pleasure driving.

Scientists are now trying to learn what holds the universe together. American taxpayers' cash, if they must know.

Senator Capper says the government at Washington costs the people more than they pay for food, but most persons would rather eat than look at Truman's picture.

The nation recently celebrated the day on which Christopher Columbus discovered America. This naturally leads to the question—how did Europe get along before it discovered there was an America to borrow money from?

In View Of The News

By J. C. Ostreicher, INS Foreign Director

News that Martin Bormann's 18-year-old son has been found and arrested by United States forces in Austria aroused new hope today that some conclusive proof may yet be found that Adolf Hitler's mysteriously missing chief deputy actually is dead.

American military officials never have been completely satisfied that the elder Bormann was killed in a tank explosion during those dark, fantastic days when the Berlin chancellery crumbled and along with it went the power and glory of the Nazi Reich.

Uncanny Ability
But even if the young man can throw no conclusive light upon this major mystery, he again has demonstrated one uncanny ability enjoyed by Nazis either born or bred. This is to find ways and means of living comfortably under any and all conditions—including the crippling European shortages that are compelling vast American sacrifices to be made in the name of democracy.

For young Bormann was not found piloting a street-car or digging for a dollar a day in the ruins of Berlin.

No. He was working as a farm-hand in the rich Austrian countryside near Salzburg.

And that meant he had plenty to eat, just as he always had when his pig-eyed father ruled palaces and villas as Hitler's personally hand-picked successor, a job he fell heir to when Rudolph the blew up and Hermann Goering was banished to obscurity.

Rushed Back To Soil
It is an astonishing thing how many highly-placed Nazis or members of their families rushed back to the soil when the "heat" was turned on them.

The mere search for anonymity amidst the cabbages and potatoes is hardly enough to explain it. For German farm settlers are so closely-knit in entity that a boy like Bormann's son must have been known to everyone for miles around.

The answer probably lies in the fact that this now-vanished upper-crust horde had pampered itself for so many years that the prospect of seeking real oblivion in a crowded city was made untenable by knowledge of the hated word ration.

Heinrich Himmler tried to become a farmer.

So did many Nazi generals and gestapo leaders who one by one have been discovered in dusty overall, leaning on pitchforks, well-fed and beaming on fat hogs rooting in their sties.

These were the men who had appropriated palaces and with varnished fingernails had pointed out to German farmers their great if modest and unwarded role in the building of a thousand year Nazi-dom and the ultimate edification of Hitler.

They apparently found when the sun set upon them that the most comfortable way for them to live was to get close to the earth and its richness.

Hitler may have been a vegetarian. But his henchmen always set good tables.

Looking At Life

By Erich Brandeis

A New York architect celebrated his 101st birthday a few days ago.

When interviewed, he said that his only complaint was that this was the first season he has not been able to play golf.

Otherwise he had nothing to complain about.

He didn't start to play golf until he was fifty—too busy before that—and, until a few years ago, he competed annually in golf tournaments and won a number of prizes.

At 101 he still takes his daily walk; he still reads newspapers and magazines and books; he still visits his friends and relatives, and, while he has retired from his profession, he still designs homes for people he knows.

Last week I visited an old lady in an institution for the aged.

I tried to talk to her about this and that, but I could get no reaction. She wasn't interested in anything except her food and the immediate life around her.

She complained about the doctors and the nurses and, according to her story, all the people in the institution gossiped about one another and bickered.

They had nothing to do, those hundreds of old men and women. They had been cast aside by society—cast aside, just like old clothes that are no longer useful.

One of our neighbors is a 74-year-old man.

Once upon a time he was a famous politician and lawyer and very prominent in one of the country's great fraternal organizations.

He, too, is retired. But he never misses a town meeting. He goes to every nearby meeting of his fraternal order and speaks to the members—and what a speaker he is at 74!

He takes great interest in music and is an avid reader. He plays an excellent game of bridge and Oklahoma, and he is a fine connoisseur of food.

I visit him often and he visits us—and you should hear him talk on almost any subject that interests intelligent people.

The World and the Mud Puddles

ABOUT THAT GOLD

When Ernest Bevin, the British Foreign Secretary, suddenly proposed that the United States "redistribute the Fort Knox gold" it roused the question in the minds of many citizens—how much gold is there at Fort Knox?

Fort Knox is situated about thirty miles southwest of Louisville, Kentucky and there is an idea in the minds of most citizens that all the gold in the possession of the United States is at Fort Knox. As a matter of fact, only a part of America's gold is there.

Has $21,800,000,000 Gold

This nation possesses gold of the present value of $21,800,000,000 and $12,500,000,000 of it is stacked in a heavily guarded two-story building in a field at Fort Knox.

The gold is in bricks which, although they are only about six inches long weigh about twenty-seven and one-half pounds each. There are roughly 892,000 of these bricks, stacked roughly so much as a wrapper around them.

The bricks are in a great vault two stories high, one level in the basement and the other on the ground floor. The gold is stacked on both levels. The vault door weighs more than forty thousand pounds. No one man knows the full combination.

Where Gold Is

Today the United States gold that isn't at Fort Knox is in various cities, in buildings owned by the Bureau of the Mint. For example, $5,700,000,000 is at Denver, Colorado; $2,900,000,000 is at New York; and $4,170,000,000 is at San Francisco.

What is this gold doing anyhow?

Treasury officials say it is a part of the American money system.

It gives the people confidence simply by being there.

It also shows the rest of the world that if this country should import more goods than it ships to other countries, it has the gold to pay the difference.

How did the government get all of this gold?

It bought it—some from American mining companies, but most of it from other countries. These countries sold their gold for American dollars. Then they used the dollars to buy American goods.

If American gold were "redistributed" it might be given back to foreign countries, so that they could swap it for more dollars, and buy more United States goods.

But economists here say that the gold would only find its way back to Fort Knox.

Hints On Etiquette

In a church or home wedding, as the bride approaches the altar, she slips her arm out of her father's, changes her bouquet from her right arm to her left, and holds out her right hand to the bridegroom, who either holds it in his or slips it through his arm, so that hand-in-hand or arm-in-arm, they approach the officiating minister.

They Say

WASHINGTON—Rep. Karl E. Mundt (R) S. D.: "I suggest that as a return consideration for additional aid the U. S. insist on free time over the state-owned radio facilities of the recipient countries."

PARIS—Socialist Premier Ramadier: "We are being urged to join either the Russian or American camp. We are for France and the republic."

WASHINGTON—Sen. Brewster (R) Me., criticizing the Arabian-American Oil company for selling to French buyers more cheaply than to the U. S. navy: "Why in heaven's name should you sell cheaper to a commercial agent than to your own government which put in $0 million dollars to save your hides? I think you've got some explaining to do!"

WASHINGTON—Sen. Taft (R) O., rejecting Democratic bids for bi-partisan cooperation on European aid and price curbs: "I haven't agreed with any economic policy the government has adopted yet."

ADVOCATES LATER HOUR FOR RADIO CRIME SHOWS

As readers of this column know, I have, for a number of years, been denouncing the crime-mystery radio features, especially at the hours when children under fourteen are most likely to listen to them.

As I have often pointed out, these programs that are so popular with children have lured the youngsters from play outdoors, have added to family tensions and confusions during the early evening hours, and have impaired the emotional poise and sleep of children—not to mention the cheapening of human life in the eyes of children "seeing" and hearing murder happening so often on the air and by so many smart, attractive persons.

It is therefore, with satisfaction that I read in the newspapers that after the first of January, one of the large broadcasting systems, would present no more crime-mystery programs before 9:30 Eastern Standard Time. The stated purpose was to minimize the likelihood of such programs being heard by children.

First Surrender
This is the first surrender of any broadcast program to strong objections by thoughtful parents to the gory programs on the air. These objections have become very effective through the crusading of such organizations as the Parent-Teacher Association, women's clubs and the American Bar Association.

But the leaders of the other broadcasting systems, according to the press reports, have not chosen to follow in the footsteps of the one system that has announced the ban on crime-mystery programs. Instead, they have referred to the announced ban as "hokey" and "hoakum."

A Great Gain
While many of us wish the hour had been pushed up to eleven or twelve at night, we rejoice over the marvelous gain for moral and mental health of children.

I trust that at every teachers' meeting, PTA, mothers' club, women's civic club, service club, church school, and every other agency building children into healthy, happy, good citizens, this victory for children's welfare will be celebrated and resolutions be drawn up commending this station on its leadership in this direction. Also every mother and father who really care about their children should write in their commendation. With enough appreciation expressed by discriminating citizens, it should not be many months before no crime-mystery program could be heard by many children.

Halfway Controls Worry British Leaders

LONDON, Nov. 1.—England's Labor government continues to enforce wartime controls over a large amount of food, shelter and clothing is limited, the government feels compelled to ration it in such a way that each person receives his or her fair share.

This calls for an extensive organization and a great deal of bookkeeping. The housewife must deal with a complicated system of ration points and free points. Behind shuttered windows, lights burn late in neighborhood shops as the shopkeeper struggles to balance his ration accounts.

In some respects this system seems to have worked very well. Families in the lower-income brackets feel they are getting just as good a deal as the rich. In fact, you can hear many people say that they are better off than they were before the war, with children getting free orange juice and free cod liver oil.

But now that the government has come smack up against the unbalance of exports and imports and against the awesome deficit of dollars, the end has come to what the Tory press calls "a fools' purgation." The government is trying to take the essential steps to meet the facts of life with the necessary realism.

Cabinet Ministers Troubled
The real question for the Labor cabinet is whether it is possible to plan for a society that is half controlled and half uncontrolled. The proportion might be more nearly three-fourths controlled and one-fourth free.

The more conscientious cabinet ministers, and particularly the earnest and intensely hard-working Sir Stafford Cripps, are deeply troubled. They believe in the experiment now going forward here in "social democracy," to use Sir Stafford's own phrase. At the same time, however, they recognize it may not work in an economy half free and half controlled.

Does this mean, then, that the government must go the whole way on controls? An important step, for example, would be the direction of labor. Under the present law, a man out of employment who goes to a government exchange seeking work is given a choice of four or five jobs in essential industry. He is given a living allowance. But he cannot be ordered to take a particular job. Nor can women be compelled to go into essential industry, as they were in wartime.

Cannot Close Gap
That is the gap in the control system. Through that gap many people filter into black or gray-market activities. The other evening, the BBC, in one of a series of radio programs on England's future, put on an ex-serviceman just returned, who discussed seriously whether he should take an approved job at a comparatively low wage or should take something in the gray market at a much higher rate.

This gap cannot be closed. It would be political suicide to try to impose such controls. The very grave danger, therefore, is that more and more of the economy will slip out from under present halfway controls.

What this can mean and how to prevent it is a subject that is receiving even more serious consideration. Liberal economists, who recognize the need to keep at least a minimum of controls in the present period of scarcity, argue cogently that the government should put more confidence in the price system and the law of supply and demand.

"The true choice," F. L. Paish of the University of London wrote recently, "is not between plan and no plan, but between planning thru the price system and planning against it."

Paish denounced the kind of controls that make for "conflicting incentives." Under such conflicts respect for law and government breaks down. The end, Paish warned, is "frustration, poverty and perhaps disaster."

A similar warning came from W. Manning Dacey, economic adviser to Lloyd's bank, speaking on (Continued on Next Page)

Right To Rifle Pant's Pockets

By PAUL GALLICO

A learned jurist in St. Louis has ruled that a wife short of cash has a "legal as well as moral right" to rifle the pants pockets of her sleeping husband. Then he plucked a chord on the heartstrings of practically every American male when he added an aside, "Why even my wife does that and I can't do a thing about it."

Recognize Queer Customs
I have always maintained that life in these United States would on the whole be more peaceful and less nerve-racking with less work for the divorce courts if we would only face and recognize those queer little feminine customs about which nothing can be done. On items where our better halves can be reasoned with, corrected, or even trained, I am all for a firm stand and will be the first in line to shout, "No! No!" when the question comes up. "Are we men or are we mice?" You may consider my outcry and answer to this query to be ambiguous. Mebbe so, but that way lies safety.

But my point, this brisk November day, is that there are many feminine foibles apparently cast in steel and concrete. To try to demolish, uproot, or even bend them a little is just a sheer waste of time. I have already covered one in my effort on dames who insist upon straightening up a man's desk. Another is a gal's predilection for tapping the petty cash till in a gent's trousers.

Mark Oneself A Chump
Psychically it is probably very good for them and to interfere with this simple pleasure is to mark oneself a chump. I have maintained privately for some time that many ladies, in common with the magpie, a bird they may be said to resemble for several other qualities best not gone into, are born pilferers and find great difficulty in resisting bright objects such as small bits of ribbon, feathers, string, razor blades, colored glass, silver and copper coins and odds and ends of green Government paper lying about the house.

I never heard of a male shoplifter. Usually when one of that craft is tapped on the shoulder by the store dick it is found that she is some wealthy lass who can well afford to pay for the articles filched from the counter, but who prefers to yield to that uncontrollable impulse found to a minor degree in all of us—namely, to pinch something. If your frau can find relief from this obsession by an occasional nocturnal expedition into your jeans, consider yourself lucky.

Not Too Much Sympathy
Frankly, I have not too much sympathy with the mugg who sets up a holler over this minor domestic hijacking. The booby in St. Louis was asking for a divorce from his Ever-loving because she repeatedly ransacked his pockets while he was sleeping and gave the money to her mother. I always ask myself what is the sucker doing with so much dough in his pants, and how often does it have to happen before the chump catches wise and bunks the roll some place where she cannot find it, or booby-traps it?

It is even more painful to note how many of the species Husbandus Americanus are so matrimonially immature as not to recognize the psychological advantage of letting the little woman get away with a little small change every so often. Outright gifts of monies are always appreciated by our wives and sweethearts but lacks the finesse and stimulus of the nocturnal fumble in the left-hand pants pocket. If you really want to make the little lady happy you will leave about $1.37 in small coins (the loss of which can hardly cripple you so that the palpitations suffered by her during the midnight hunt will not go unrewarded.

Sweetens Her Up For Week
It pays off, for any psychiatrist will tell you that her guilty feelings at having invaded and looted your breeks will sweeten her up for a week. Having successfully clipped you, she becomes prey to qualms of pity and remorse that can help to make life very comfortable for you while they last. In fact some husbands of my acquaintance have found this of such practical value that they frequently resort to such agent provocateur tricks as jingling loose change in their pockets before retiring to call attention to its presence, or hauling forth a roll consisting of two one-dollar bills, counting it and restoring it again to lure their wives into lifting it that night so that, torn by unrevealed contrition and repentance, the wives will be kind and loving to them all the next day. It is very cheap at the price, believe me, my brothers. (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

THE WELCOME MAN

You'll be welcome at all doorways if a twinkle in your eye. Friends will ask you to their parties if you're seldom known to sigh. If you hide your various troubles underneath a merry grin, You will be a favorite member of whatever group you're in.

If with patience you will listen to another's tale of woe, You will gain a friend forever whosoever you may go. But you'll lose out in that moment when he makes his trouble known. If you dare to interrupt him to inform him of your own.

It's a curious world we live in; men and women in a throng. Who must somehow with each other find the way to get along. And there isn't any grown-up, north or south or east or west. But has suffered disappointment and has heartache in the breast.

If your eyes can hold a twinkle and you've merriement to share And you never tell your troubles you'll be welcome anywhere. If you keep your nature cheerful and a frown you never show, Friends will smile to see you coming and be sorry when you go. (Copyright, 1947, Edgar A. Guest)

RELAXING MANNERS AT HOME

"Don't you think it is permissible when at home either alone or with the family to relax sufficiently in table etiquette to do such things as picking up a bone, tilting a dessert dish to get the last drop of cream? In other words, I mean to enjoy one's self in the midst of one's own home and family."

Answer: Of course, a man's home is his castle in which he is permitted to do as he pleases, without outside interference, the only stipulation being that he refrain from annoying his neighbors and otherwise breaking the law. But it is wise to bear in mind that what we do daily becomes second nature with us and the bad habits are difficult to break.

If we develop slovenly table manners when we are home, we may be so off guard when we dine in company that we will unwittingly revert to our usual customs. So much for the practical side of the question.

There is, too, a great deal of satisfaction in the knowledge that you are naturally refined and meticulous in your habits at all times, which incidentally is an excellent reason why mothers should from babyhood teach their children to be polite, gentle and grammatical.

IN THE OPEN

I left the car by the roadside and entered the narrow trail which follows a wide curving course through scrub locust and the jungle-thick creek bottom tangles. I carried a small sack and a broomstick heavily weighted at one end, on the remote chance that I might come across a shellbark hickory which had escaped the spring frost and set fruit.

The whole countryside was tinder-dry. Careless handling of a match or a discarded cigarette would have started a sweeping blaze with no possibility of check in the wide area between the roadway and the creek. The stream which traverses this valley bottom was a shrunken trickle, a far cry from the lusty, brawling torrent which shouldered its way out through these hills last April. I walked a few rods down stream along the exposed stream bed, stirring up enough noise in the heavy carpet of fallen leaves to scare all the wild folk of the area clear out of the district. Here and there the drought-stricken trickle slid into a flat pool occupied by hundreds of shiners who dashed about in nervous schools as I blundered by.

Sudden Racket

Suddenly there was a tremendous racket deep in the big timber which climbs the hills on the far side of the creek. It was a high pitched cackling, something like the quite common spring song of the flicker. Only once before had I heard this peculiar cackle, but I knew that somewhere across there in the timberland was one of our rarest and most spectacular birds—the pileated woodpecker.

This wary fellow, as big as a crow, and wearing a flaming red crest, had noted my aimless shuffling about in the creek bottom and was expressing his feelings in no uncertain manner. These birds are said to be quite curious, so I moved in beside a small tree and rapped it vigorously with the broomstick, in supposed imitation of the woodpecker's hammering.

Every time I rapped, the big fellow took umbrage and complained bitterly. The uproar attracted all sorts of camp followers. A flicker came by to investigate and nearly halted in the tree above me. He was obviously startled when he saw me standing there and made a sudden shift into high gear just as he was coming in.

with all flaps down, for the landing. A gray squirrel put up with the noise as long as he could take it, then came pouncing down the hillside across from me and preached me an afternoon sermon from a dead stub pulpit. The parade also included a cardinal grosbeak and one or two song sparrows. After satisfying their curiosity, these smaller fellows went on about their business, but the "Indian Hen" kept out of sight.

Powerful Blows
I estimated the cackling as coming from a point perhaps 200 yards distant. Between rappings with the broomstick I could hear the great chisel-bill cutting away at a tree. The powerful blows sounded exactly like a lumberman using an axe up there on the hillside. At last I caught my first glimpse of the bird as he flew into the top of a tall tree.

The continuing racket drew his mate and soon I could hear the paid of them muttering ill-concealed comments about old Neb-nose and his resounding broomstick as they debated whether to move in closer or fly over into the next county.

They caught me napping on the next move. For some moments there had been no answer to the siren song of the broomstick and I moved impatiently around the small tree I was using as a sounding board. Out flew the magnificent male bird from a tall dead beech not forty yards distant, his white wing linings flashing plainly as he flew across the bend in the valley into the timberland farther upstream.

Seen Twice In Many Years
Twice now in many years of woodland wandering have I seen this shy woodpecker. It is a joy to note that perhaps our trigger-happy gunners have at last decided to give this striking bird a break, that it may once again be not too uncommon along the wayside trails. This bird leaves an unmistakable trademark. When you come across a dead stub or a dying tree with a huge pile of chips about the base and big oval or oblong diggings aloft, you may be sure the great log-cock has been operating. With a little patience and perseverance you may even get a glimpse of this unforgettable back-woodsman.

The dwindling stream afforded easy passage almost anywhere, so I crossed over to make sure that all was well with the lone colony of the walking fern which has established a station against a mossy outcrop. Then I headed back to the car. As I backed and turned toward the main highway, the big woodpecker yelped an irate farewell from the far hilltop.

the BBC, which is, incidentally, a government corporation. Dacey pointed to the serious inflation in England—an inflation not in the pound that goes to buy rationed necessities but in the pound spent on unrationed commodities, such as tobacco, drinks and entertainment. The pound spent on these commodities is worth only a little more than a third of the prewar pound. The pound spent on food will still buy about four-fifths of what it bought before 1939.

The government's newest austerity measures, and those yet to come, will inevitably hit hard, especially on the low and middle-income groups. Conscientious Sir Stafford Cripps is afraid that persons living on old-age pensions and those on the lowest salaries will be seriously harmed. Adjustments, complicated and difficult, will have to be made for extreme hardship cases. That is, of course, the great difficulty in a controlled or a partially controlled economy. You press one button intended to change one set of circumstances and you are immediately confronted with another condition in need of correction.

But Britain's Labor planners are not ready to admit defeat in this experiment in "social democracy." Whether they will continue to have a majority of the country with them is something else again.

Voters of the East Side Favor Carl W. Haufler ★ Clair M. Uber

for Mayorfor
Council

Business men and other voters of the Fourth and Fifth Wards believe we need some new blood in our city government.

Regardless of party we have contributed to this advertisement and expect to vote for Haufler and Uber and are asking all voters of the city to go to the polls and vote for these candidates.

Carl W. Haufler will be remembered by the ex-service-men as the man who kept them in touch with home and with their home town buddies in the service through thousands of letters he and his committee wrote to them.

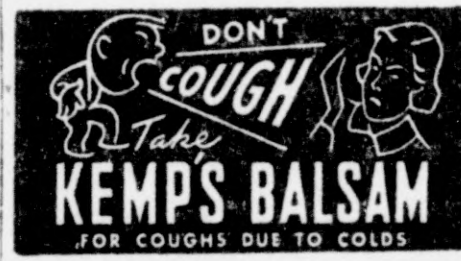

Both of these men are well and favorably known by members of their church, civic and fraternal organizations. They are making no patronage promises to any group or clique but to all voters they pledge an honest administration.

Let's All Get on the Bandwagon and Vote for Haufler and Uber Tuesday, November 4th

Youth For Christ Meets Permanently At Baptist Church

First Meeting Of Youth Movement In New Location Will Take Place Tonight

Beginning this evening, at 8:00 o'clock, and every Saturday hereafter, New Castle Youth for Christ will meet in the auditorium of the First Baptist church, North at East streets. It is announced by the local youth board.

For the past two years, the meetings have been held in the spacious auditorium of the First Methodist church where many successful services have taken place. At the last meeting of the board, the decision was made to move to the First Baptist auditorium. For the first year of its existence, the youth movement met in the Y.W.C.A. auditorium.

The first program in the Baptist church will be headed by Rev. Warren Brewin and Paul Plack, of Los Angeles, Cal., representatives of the Charles E. Fuller Foundation. Rev. Brewin, is an old time Gospel preacher, while Mr. Plack, a former opera singer, sings the Gospel songs into the hearts of his listeners. The party has been conducting an evangelistic campaign in the Baptist church for the past week.

New Castle Youth for Christ Ensemble will be heard this evening under the direction of Miss Mary Aiken. Rev. George Fissel, co-director of the movement will direct the evening program. Mrs. Rose Bender will preside at the piano.

Next week, November 8, Dr. Clarence E. Mason, of the Philadelphia School of the Bible will return as speaker for the young people.

Do You Like To CRUMPLE FENDERS?

If you do, this is an easy stunt: just turn right from the left lane. You'll probably hear swearing and the screech of brakes. Try it at high speed on the highway and you'll be the death of the party.

But if you want to be a safe driver, turn from the correct lane and signal first. That's the courteous thing to do. We like to discuss automobile insurance with courteous drivers because they are the careful drivers. May we talk to you?

Sharp Curves And Narrow Road Make Hill At Rose Point Traffic Hazard

Sharp curves and a narrow roadway, built to accommodate the kind of traffic which was in existence a quarter of a century ago, make the Rose Point hill something of a death trap, as can be seen in the pictures above.

It was at this point that the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor M. Wimer, of R.D. 1, Canfield, O., was killed, and Mr. and Mrs. Wimer severely injured, when their car was involved in a collision with a trailer truck. Where the most is missing at the left hand side of the road, was where their machine hurtled down over a steep embankment after the collision.

The road is not adequately marked to show the extreme hazard which exists at this point. Approaching the bridge from the east, motorists come down a long hill. The road, which was originally of concrete, is now covered with an amesite coating, which is extremely slippery in wet weather. Exactly one mile east, a warning sign states that the road is "slippery when wet."

To the west, in the village of Rose Point, are two highway markers as shown in the picture. Their size can be determined by the man standing at the side pointing. The one merely states "hill" and the other warns of the approach to the curve. There is no other caution sign telling motorists to reduce their speed or that the curve is an extremely sharp one.

The curve, which extends from the village limits to the bridge beyond, curves very sharply, on the steep hill, much more so than the picture of the approach to the bridge shows, where there is a straightaway for a distance of around 100 feet.

Three fatal accidents have occurred at this point in the past year, and many more have happened down through the years. Heavy traffic has worn the edges of the road very thin, and in some spots, there is a deep rut.

When the picture of the approach to the bridge was taken, painters were just starting to paint the bridge. They had parked their truck on the highway, a violation of the Pennsylvania motor code. The signs they had placed to warn motorists to go slow, and eventually to slow down to a 10 mile speed on the bridge, did not give motorists warning in time to stop safely, had the hill been wet.

Above are shown the Rose Point bridge over Slippery Rock creek, and the road as it goes through the town of Rose Point, where the road starts to curve sharply to the right, just as it leaves the town, and straightens out just a few feet from the bridge.

Aliquippa Band
Does Grand Job

Ninety Piece "Quip" Band
Smooth In Musicianship
And Marching

Another fine high school band visited New Castle Friday night when the Aliquippa band appeared at Taggart stadium. The band, 90 strong, was uniformed something like New Castle save that the tunic was longer and the hats were topped with black plumes instead of red pom-poms.

Fred Sporny directs the band, a former naval bandsman, and he has an outfit that exudes snap and enthusiasm. The cadence is unusually fast and snappy, the majorettes "swung it" as they went down the field and the musicianship of the band was a delight.

The "Quip" band formed several figures, among them a large clarinet, a banjo and a trombone, playing "The Clarinet Polka", "O Sassauna" and "The Trombone Boogie". The last figure was a trumpet with the band playing "Circibiribin".

In Halloween Mood
The New Castle high school band under the direction of Joe F. Replogle was in a halloween mood. Coming onto the field they played "The Children's March". The field lights went out, and the uniform lights into a skull and crossbones. They played "Valse Triste" and "The Funeral March of a Marionette" with the twirlers doing a complicated routine. The final figure was a pumpkin head.

Prior to the game the two bands joined and played the national anthem, formed school letters and played the school hymns. You'll notice we've said nothing of the game or the Aliquippa team. We did want to say something of the Aliquippa band which ranks with the best ever to play at Taggart stadium.

More than 1,200 flowering plants, 1,000 fungi, 300 mosses, approximately 200 lichens and 100 liverworts are found in the Great Smoky Mountains National Park. In low places flowers appear at the close of January and continue into December.

RAYMOND F. HORCHLER

Raymond F. Horchler symbolizes progress and civic interest in the Seventh Ward of New Castle.

A grocer with his place of business on Cherry street, Mr. Horchler has been a resident of the city since 1901 and has been a merchant in partnership with his brother, George, for the past 35 years.

He was born in Cumberland, Maryland, Dec. 14, 1898 and moved to New Castle at the age of three. He attended schools here and starting to work with the Baltimore and Ohio railroad at the age of 18. He served as a clerk to the agent for seven years, but forsook railroad work to enter into business.

Headed Civic Club
For the past twelve years Mr. Horchler headed the Seventh Ward Civic club, an organization of which he has been the driving force, and a group which has done much to better conditions in that part of our city. Although he no longer serves as president of the club he is still active in all of its projects. Through his perseverance he saw the paving of Cherry street and its extension, the re-surfacing of Cedar street and the construction of a war memorial in the ward.

Well-liked, friendly, and above all, sincere, Horchler says: "I have always been a campaigner for all projects which benefit my ward of the city and the community itself. My one ambition at present is to see the construction of a union depot in the city—a need which I think has made itself felt here for many years."

Served In First World War
Mr. Horchler served in the first World War and is a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. He is a member of the Presbyterian church.

He married the former Mary Patterson, of Kittanning, a former nurse in the Presbyterian hospital of Pittsburgh, and has three sons, all of whom served in the U. S. Navy during the late war. They are Raymond K., who was a yeoman, Russell P., ex-electrician's mate, and Robert P., a member of the dental corps.

Halloween Prank
Costs Woman's Life

SALISBURY, Md., Nov. 1.—(INS)—Mrs. Victoria Brewer, 39, was the fatal victim today of a tragic halloween prank by a 14-year-old boy neighbor.

Police said the boy, Robert Williams, entered the living room of Mrs. Brewer's house with a .22 caliber rifle, and announced: "This is what I'm going to scare the spooks with."

There was a blast, and Mrs. Brewer fell mortally wounded with a shot in the forehead. Her two sons by a former marriage, Bill Dickey Bradley, 13, and Lou Gerig Bradley, 15, witnessed the shooting. Police, who released Williams after the shooting, quoted the boy as saying he "didn't know the gun was loaded."

ROUND WORLD
FLYERS REACH
THE ALEUTIANS

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Nov. 1.—(INS)—The round the world "flyer" rested today in Adak in the Aleutians after completion of a 400-mile flight from Shemya air force field.

The two pilots, George Truman of Los Angeles and Clifford Evans of Washington, D. C., completed their north Pacific hop at 5:50 p. m. (PST) last night.

Anchorage was expected to be their next destination on the route to the eastern seaboard starting point.

FACES NEW CHARGE

SCRANTON, Pa., Nov. 1.—(INS)—Maurice Katz of Scranton, convicted on a charge of black marketing rationed sugar, today faced another charge of "endeavoring to obstruct justice".

Katz, who was found guilty by a federal grand jury yesterday for illegal sugar traffic, was ordered arrested by Federal Judge John W. Murphy for allegedly attempting to tamper with a witness at the trial.

Following the jury's verdict of guilty on the black market charge, Judge Murphy increased Katz's bail from $5000 to $10,000. Katz was tried on a similar charge in federal court at Harrisburg a year ago but was acquitted.

C. F. I. offers a one year course to train journeymen floor mechanics who are specialists in the installation of magnesite, terrazzo, and asphalt tile floors. Related courses are taught including construction, blueprint reading, job estimation, and properties of flooring materials.

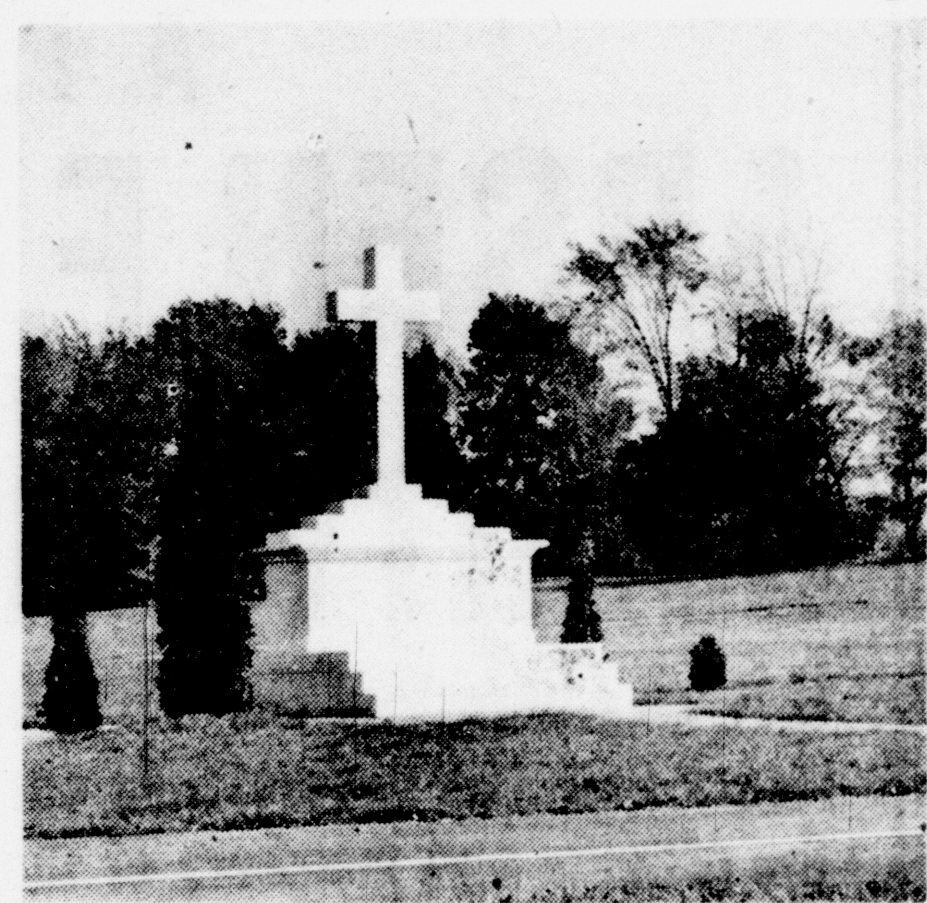

It is believed that C. F. I. is the only school of its kind in the world. Close contact is maintained with the leading flooring manufacturers of the U. S. The school's employment service is offered to all graduates. The extreme shortage of qualified mechanics in this period of building activity makes an excellent opportunity for C. F. I. men.

Enrollment may be made any time in one of these classes: 8:00 to 1:00; 2:00 to 7:00; or 5:00 to 10:00. Classes are five hours a day, five days a week. For further information visit us or your nearest Veterans Administration office.

To Dedicate New Altar At St. Vitus Cemetery

Another milestone in the history and growth of St. Vitus church will be realized when on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock the new St. Vitus cemetery adjoining the old cemetery in Shenango township will be blessed and dedicated, the Rev. Fr. Nicholas DeMita, pastor of the church, in charge.

Delegated to officiate at these services by the Most Rev. Hugh C. Boyle, D.D., bishop of the Pittsburgh diocese, Fr. DeMita is proud to offer to the people of his parish this beautiful new cemetery and monument which will be their final resting place, as it will also be his own place of burial.

Low, green level grass rolling over ten acres of land, makes up the new cemetery. The wide Amiesite road of 20 feet wide forms a circle of 60 feet in diameter, enabling cars to enter and leave the cemetery easily.

New Altar Erected
In the center portion of the cemetery has been erected a new altar, which will be dedicated on Sunday. The altar, made of pure white West Rutland marble, stands 17 feet high and is nine and a half feet long. The huge cross at the top of the altar is of marble, as are the steps which lead to it. This beautiful piece of artistic work, weighs approximately 19 to 20 tons, and is erected upon a foundation of 33 tons.

Tall evergreen trees form the altar's background, lending a stately and quiet atmosphere to the monument. It will be here that all funeral services will be conducted, and this stately monument is a gift to parishioners from their parish priest, Rev. Fr. Nicholas DeMita. Erecting of monument was in charge of C. Wayne Canon of the Oak Park Monument company.

Although costing $15,000, the new cemetery, with its green grass, shrubbery, modern driveways, and monument will be considered among the finest of cemeteries in the district. The monument alone is of the finest marble and will withstand all types of weather.

The old cemetery was purchased in 1905, and to date there are recorded 3,000 persons buried in the eight acres of land. The new cemetery was purchased in 1946, and within a year work was completed and the altar completed and to be dedicated on Sunday.

Coincidentally, the first person to be buried in the new consecrated cemetery will be the young soldier, Pfc. John Conte, the first of the war dead to be returned to Lawrence county from overseas. His military funeral will be conducted in the new burial section on Monday morning, following his requiem mass at 10 o'clock in St. Vitus church.

Huge Flying Boat Launching Today

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 1.—(INS)—The launching of Howard Hughes' giant $23 million flying boat, the largest of its kind in the world, will take place today at the Los Angeles harbor.

Tomorrow the plane, with Hughes himself at the controls, will be given taxing tests. The millionaire aviator said he would subject the plane to progressive speeds up to 75 and 80 miles an hour.

Sen. Owen Brewster of Maine, chairman of the congressional fact-finding committee which branded the flying boat "impractical," and not worth a tremendous government investment, were invited to attend the launching, but none indicated acceptance.

The 200-ton craft will not be taken into the air for several months, Hughes said, explaining that an enormous amount of technical data must be completed before it is airborne.

Railroads Sidestep Direct Wage Demands

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—(INS)—Railroad spokesmen sidestepped a direct reply today to the five operating brotherhoods for immediate consideration and action on the unions' demand for a 30 per cent wage increase.

The five brotherhoods, representing 350,000 engineers, firemen, trainmen, conductors and switchmen, made their demand for action on wage increases yesterday and warned that further neglected and delay could disturb railroad operations.

The action came as the carriers and railroad workers were negotiating for 44 changes in working rules. The brotherhoods asked that these negotiations be set aside temporarily and the wage proposal, which was filed Sept. 30, be taken up.

A spokesman for the Three Regional Bargaining Committees negotiating with the workers since Oct. 7 said the discussion on rules was given precedence over wages at the request of the brotherhoods. He said:

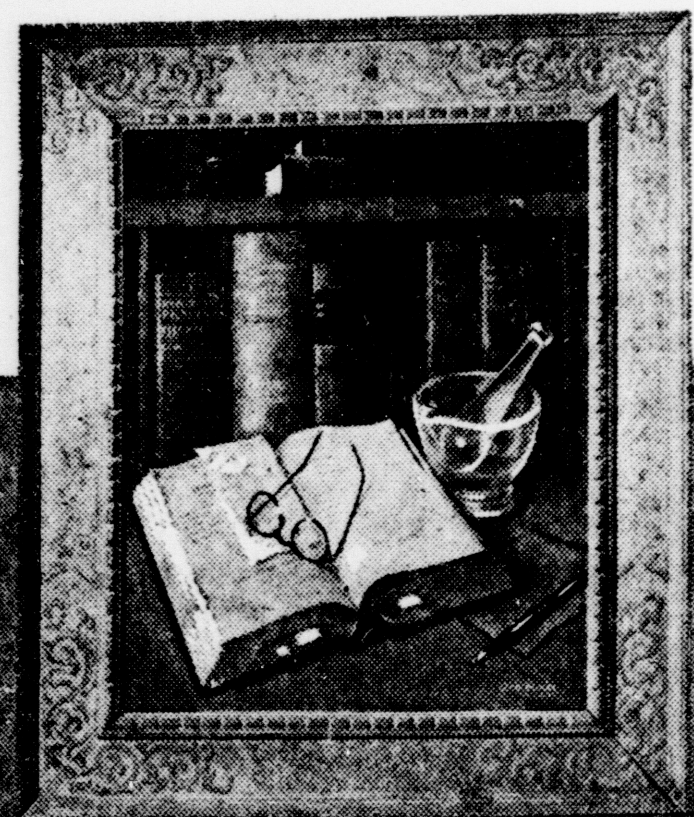

"Any delay in taking up the wage question is the direct policy of the union leaders in pressing for these rule changes."

FIRE IN SCRANTON

SCRANTON, Pa., Nov. 1.—(INS)—A general alarm fire today destroyed a two-story building in Scranton, causing heavy loss to three business concerns. No one was injured, police said.

Firemen who fought for three hours before checking the blaze could not immediately estimate damage or discover the cause of the fire.

Police said several families were rescued from apartments on the second floor of the structure. Firemen reported that the blaze swept a sportsman's manufacturing company, a shoe store and a market, all on the ground floor of the building.

White women in the United States who reach the age of 65 have a life expectancy of 14 years.

The New Castle Trades & Labor Assembly A. F. of L. ARSEN F. ARMOND for COUNTY COMMISSIONER

It is very important that there be in the office as County Commissioner one who understands our problems, and with that thought, the officers and members of the New Castle Trades and Labor Assembly, after careful investigation of Arsen F. Armond's character, heartily indorse and recommend him to the voters of Lawrence County for the office of County Commissioner.

We therefore recommend to you that you make it a point especially to see that all of the members of your family vote on election day, Tuesday, November 4, 1947, and that they particularly vote for Arsen F. Armond for County Commissioner.

New Wilmington Has Celebration

Mummers Parade And Halloween Program Interest Large Crowd

(Special To The News)
 NEW WILMINGTON, Nov. 1.—New Wilmington joined in the Halloween spirit Friday night with a Kiwanis club sponsored parade of all manner of "make-ups" over the borough streets, and ending with a big celebration at the New Wilmington high school lot.

The parade details were worked out by Griff Williams as general chairman, and he did a fine job, along with his committee. The parade got under way at 7:30 o'clock with three lovely young majorettes of New Wilmington high, Donna Barb, Peggy Phillips and Gloria Phillips, dressed in snappy bright uniforms, stepping along at the head of the marchers, followed by the Westminster college band under the direction of Donald Cameron.

Forty Given Prizes
 The parade moved over Nesha-nock avenue to Market street, to Vine street, to New Castle street, to the rear of the New Wilmington High building. The grounds were dressed up to fit the occasion with Halloween decorations.

The prize committee, consisting of Mrs. Herbert Smith, Charles Bell and Filmore Campbell, gave out the prizes, 40 of them, and the first prize went to the F. A. Hamill family of New Castle for their Indian costumes; second prize going to Harold Speer and his group, from Volant R. D. 3, for his "Kilroy Was Here" setup.

Cake-Walk Feature
 A cake-walk was a big feature of the evening, with 30 cakes being given as prizes, the cakes being baked by wives of the Kiwanis club members. Square dancing was also held and enjoyed by several hundred folks.

The free cider stands did a land-office business, but what is Halloween without cider and pumpkins?

The Kiwanis club realized quite a nice sum from the "cake-walk" to further their children's recreation program here.

All in all it was evening well spent by the folks of this community.

Pollock Students

Enjoy Halloween

Laying studies aside for a time, boys and girls at Pollock school had a grand time on Friday afternoon, when Halloween and its weird sounds and strange faces took over, with the students attired in costume, joining with their pupils, several of the teachers also dressed in costume.

Beginning at 1:30 p. m., Miss Ruth Weir, Mrs. Sarabelle Gibson and Mrs. Hilda Konnerth had charge of the program in which a number of students participated. The school joined in the flag salute and the singing of the Star Spangled Banner followed by two hymns played on the trumpet and clarinet by James Palmer, Charles Faraone and Carmen Cucitrona. Miss Weir accompanied on the piano and Arthur Canning directed.

Recitations were given by Pollyann Pratt, Gary Glaxner and Elmer Wareham with the "Jack-o-Lantern" song sung by grade 3-1. A play, "Doings in the Cornfield" was participated in by Gerald Angiolelli, Ralph Exposito, Reese Flannery, Peter Georges, Norman Naplan, Vincent Pascherillo, Domenick Exposito, John Fullwood, Lucille Exposito, Mary Ann Gravace, Adeline Ludovici and Rosalie Gallagher.

Further recitations were given by Loretta Robson, Elizabeth

James and Theresa Gioacchi. The play, "Witch Doctor" participated in by Domenick Palmer, Joseph Pascherillo, Nancy Toschi, Cleome DeGiorgio, Shirley Cooper, Richard DeAntonio, John Johnson, Arthur Roy and Bernard Jackson, closed the program. In the various home rooms, individual Halloween parties were enjoyed with refreshments served by the teachers.

The Nobel Prizes are made annually by Swedish authorities from the fund established by Alfred Nobel, which totalled nearly $9,000,000. Individually they amount to about $35,000, and are given for distinguished achievement in physics, chemistry, medicine, literature, and the promotion of peace.

PERSONAL MENTION

Mrs. Harriett Gloss, who has been ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Pearl Harlan, 136 East Winter avenue, for the past several weeks, is showing improvement.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred S. Kuttisch and infant son of Ft. Sill, Okla., are visiting for two weeks with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Kuttisch of Waldo street and Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Herman of South Mill street.

New Castle Blasts Aliquippa, 50-7; Shenango Shocks Bessemer, 7-2

'Canes Score At Will In Lop-Sided Contest; Long Gallops Feature

Gribble Scores Three Times, Paolone, Valenti, Keys, Sallie, Gilmore Go Over; Paolone Makes Stadium History With 94-Yard Touchdown Dash.

Forced to confine their Hal-lowneen funnicking to Taggart stadium, with about 7,000 fans looking on, an over-powering New Castle High "Red Hurricane" football machine assumed the role of 'goblins and rattled the bones of the Aliquippa High Indians for a 50 to 7 score in a "touchdown parade" that closely resembled a runaway freight on a mountain-side.

Eugene Gribble, star left-half, led the TD makers with three, while Keys, Paolone, Valenti, Sallie and Gilmore each added one. It was the kind of a game of which coaches dream but seldom get to see. There were 49 subs in the game.

Paolone Races 94 Yards
Highlighting the touchdown monopoly was young Ralph Paolone who electrified the fans out of their seats with a 94-yard gallop down field chased by the Aliquippa High marker. Paolone was really carrying the mail, as he took the ball on the New Castle 6, and bulled his way through center, kept on going and wound up back of the faraway goal posts, a badly spent young man.

Gene Gribble just previous to Paolone's history-making gallop, had dashed 65 yards to score on the first play for New Castle got the ball for the evening.

31 To 0, First Half
Just before the first period ended Sammy Keys, the colored speed merchant, raced 19 yards to score the third touchdown. The first period ended 19 to 0. Aliquippa was a badly demoralized team by this time. The fans by this time realized too that it was just a matter of how big the score would be.

New Castle added two more TD's in the second period—"Doc" Valenti, a sub for Gribble at left-half, carrying over from the 3-yard line, and Lou Gilmore, a sub for Sammy Keys at right-half, scoring from the 5-yard line. New Castle had six first downs to none for the invaders for the first half and the amazing total of 303 yards rushing to 1 for Aliquippa. The score, New Castle 31, Aliquippa 0 at the half.

Even In Third Period
Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh at the start of the third period began sending in the second and third stringers in droves, and Aliquippa began picking up steam, by going into a forward passing attack that clicked in spoils for long gains, until finally they reached the one yard line with Shaw a sub back field man crashing it over. New Castle began the scoring early in the second after Bob Session had blocked and recovered an Aliquippa kick on the Aliquippa 14. Cuba passed to Gribble for the sixth touchdown from the 19 yard line after New Castle had drawn a five-yard penalty.

Score Twice More
Paul Cuba, Jr., intercepted an Aliquippa pass on the New Castle 35 and fumbled, but Irwin of New Castle a line sub recovered, in a few plays New Castle ran the ball to the Aliquippa 46 and Gribble raced to his right and ran for the seventh touchdown, with plenty to spare.

Hassen a New Castle line sub intercepted an Aliquippa pass on the New Castle 26 and ran to the Aliquippa 12 before being hauled down. New Castle lost the ball on downs on the Aliquippa 7 yard line, and Mancine a sub New Castle center, intercepted a Lovra thrown pass on the Aliquippa 20 and ran it to the 3 yard line. Sallie a sub for Cuba at quarterback ran it over for the final touchdown.

Staggering Yardage
The queer part of the game is this—in first downs Aliquippa 8—New Castle 7. Aliquippa had a fine forward passer in young Lovra who threw 24 and completed 11, for a 149 yards, this being the department that the visitors ran up their first downs. In rushing the Indians wound up with 6 yards rushing and New Castle with 465 rushing.

Aliquippa simply couldn't gain a nickels worth on the ground, and took to the air, New Castle held down its passing attack and was content to stay out of the air-lanes, throwing but seven and completing twice.

Needless to say the New Castle line played good football, the yardage gained by the Indians tells that story sufficiently.

Warren Next Friday
There is no doubt that New Castle could have scored 75 points at least if Bridenbaugh had elected to keep his first team on the field, but with a tough battle with Warren, coming up next Friday night the local mentor saw fit to give his first stringers a rest after the third or fourth touchdown.

The New Castle subs many of whom will be back on the team next year, were very impressive.

Hallowen ended on a very sour note for the Aliquippa Indians, but a rather sweet one for New Castle, who had to be content with a 7-7 tie at Aliquippa last year.

This was the eighth win for New Castle, against one tie, and the fifth Class AA win, only the deadlock with Farrell spoiling an otherwise perfect double A record. New Castle has scored 236 points this year and giving up 34.

O'Connor Draws His Battle Plan To Fight 'Happy'

CLEVELAND, Nov. 1.—(INS)—"Mighty-Mite" Leslie M. O'Connor and Baseball Commissioner A. B. "Happy" Chandler began mobilizing their big guns today for an unprecedented showdown court battle on baseball law.

O'Connor, suspended general manager of the Chicago White Sox, was given a clear field in which to carry on his fight when representatives of the American league adopted a hands-off policy in an emergency meeting yesterday in Cleveland.

The league, however, did not rule on the Chandler fine of $500 levied on O'Connor for signing a Chicago high school student to a White Sox contract, nor did it challenge Chandler's right to interpret baseball law.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 1.—(INS)—Army's football team, still dizzy from Columbia's sensational passing attack a week ago, faced another aerial threat today in Washington and Lee.

Lesnevich Cuts Tami To Ribbons

Garden Battle Halted In Seventh Round With Mauriello Bleeding Hulk

By DAVIS J. WALSH
(International News Service Sports Writer)
NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Silence and a sense of requiem pervaded New York's crumbling "Temple of Thump" with an air of faint rebuke today for the low estate to which it had sunk only a few hours before.

The sinking process may be said to have reached grave-digger depth at about 10:30 o'clock last night in Madison Square Garden. For it was approximately then that the effigy of a man named Tami Mauriello was called "out" on his feet in the seventh round to end a sterling encounter with Light Heavyweight Champion Gus Lesnevich.

Resembled Inquest
As a contest of skill and chance, it had all the sporting elements of an inquest.

To the vast surprise of no one, by the way, save apparently the 14,079 paid admissions who disgorged $60,698 for the privilege of being witnesses to the morbid event.

Everybody else was fully aware that, bar accident, it was going to be very difficult to hold a contest without benefit of two contestants. Mauriello at 20½ pounds was bloated, porcine and athletically void, with the blunt, beaten-in look of the man who has ducked neither wisely nor too often. That, however, was at the start.

At the finish, 33 seconds after the bell rang for the seventh, this caricature of the man who had almost stopped Joe Louis with the first punch two years ago was a glisty ruin.

For 18½ minutes of needless agony, he had been gouged and hacked and probed with a surgical thoroughness no coroner would disdain.

There was no reason behind it, or valid excuse for existence. The pair had already met three times, with Lesnevich winning three, for what might have been accepted as reasonable evidence of superiority.

But, of course, in a case like this, there's nothing like being sure.

Four In Running For 'AA' Honors

The field of contenders for the WPAL class AA football crown was cut to four today, but a couple of those remaining unbeaten clubs were in the running only after narrow squeaks in championship play.

Among the latter was New Kensington, defending champion, which remained among the unbeaten only after edging out Vandergriff, 13 to 7, in the final minute of play last night. Brownsville also came up with a one-touchdown victory, 19-12, over Uniontown.

Munhall was eliminated from the title chase by Har-Brack, 20-12, while McKeesport stayed in the running with a comparatively easy 30 to 13 win over Jeannette.

Trojans Meet Lindora Hornets
Ellwood City's Trojans, one of the semi-pro powers of the district, will tangle with the Lindora Hornets of Butler tonight at the Tube City high school field in a feature attraction.

The Trojans are looking ahead to their all-important game with New Castle's Wabash Bears Nov. 14, a game they have vowed they will win.

Kick-off tonight is set for eight o'clock.

'Quips Smash Near To Goal

Brown, sub fullback of the Indians, smashes to the New Castle foot line in the third period, running into the waiting arms of Gene Gribble. On the next play the invaders scored. It was the only period the Aschman team played on even terms with the locals.

Other players are Mangino (15), Zeigler (83) and Lovra (38) of Aliquippa.

BEARS AWAITING SUNDAY BATTLE WITH MCKEESPORT

Wabash Bears Carded With McKeesport Legionnaires At Union Field

New Castle football fans will get a chance to see the Wabash Bears in action Sunday at the Union High field at 2:30 o'clock when the strong local semi-pro stars battle the McKeesport Legionnaires.

The Bears will battle the Ellwood Trojans here November 14 in the New Castle High hand benefit game. This game tomorrow will serve as a warm-up.

Strong Line-Up

The line-ups of both teams are packed with former high school and college stars and an interesting, hardfought game is in prospect, it was announced by William Domenick, president of the Bears. The McKeesport team will bring quite a large squad here, with a very fine record of five straight victories. The Bears will try to stop them.

TWO GAMES SUNDAY

There will be two football games Sunday at Washington field. At two o'clock the G. I. Shines plays the Shamrocks of the East Side in a sandlot title game, and at four o'clock the New Castle Business College team will battle the Shadysides, seeking their second win of the season.

High Harriers In Meet Monday

New Castle High's rambling cross-country team, undefeated in nine straight meets, will have test Monday at the Alcoma Country club course at Pittsburgh, meeting with Brentwood and Mt. Lebanon in a big triangular clash.

Coach Austin Comemead hopes to have his number two runner, Dick Sampson, in shape for the meet, the youngster pulling a tendon in his ankle recently.

Principal speakers of the loop, Over 100 players, officials and guests are expected for the affair which will honor the Ellwood Moose, 1947 champions of the loop.

Principal speakers include Jackie Reider, scout; Eddie Linkon, Cincinnati Reds and Ed Kleimans, Cleveland pitcher. Sheriff Frank Coen will be the emcee.

Basketball Officials Will Meet Monday

Art Alexander announced today that the Lawrence County chapter of basketball officials will meet at the "Y" at 7:30 o'clock Monday evening for discussion of the 1947-48 floor season. Any member of the PLAA officials in this section are eligible to attend the meeting.

Don "Dopey" Phelps of the Kentucky university football team, hails from Danville, Ky.

Tigers Display Too Much Class

Valley Eleven Passes And Runs To Easy Victory Over Blue And White Team

(Special To The News)
ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 1.—A sharp-clawed band of Beaver Falls Tigers prowled viciously over the turf at Lincoln high field last night, ripping apart the Ellwood Wolverines, 26-7.

Ellwood, harboring high hopes of tripping the powerful valley team, really was never in the ball game as the Schachern-coached lads passed and ran them dizzy from a bewildering variety of offensive set-ups.

Score Early In Game
On the third play of the game the Tigers showed they were out for points as D'Achille, a lefty with a buggy-whip arm, hoisted a pass to Mutscheller who gathered it in on the Ellwood 40 and went for a TD. They play covered 72 yards.

The invaders then came back to slam 88 yards in nine plays with James capping the drive by going over from the 7.

In the third period the Tigers bunched two more scores. D'Achille galloped off tackle 44 yards on a fake punt and after a pass pick-off put them on the Ellwood 30 and a penalty gave them 15 more. D'Achille flipped to Mutscheller again for the counter.

Drive 91 Yards
Not to be blanked, the Wolverines took the bit in their teeth in the last quarter to go 91 yards for their score, with Lapinta and Mantz, sub backs, doing yomen work. Bill O'Brien climaxed the march from the 17 on a TD streak.

Ellwood closes their season next Friday night at Ambridge.

Last Second Aerial Gives 'Cats Class B Title In Great Upset

Harry Zurasky Heaves Pass To Bill Getchy With Only Two Seconds Left; Crowd Of 1,500 In Delirium As Underdogs Pull Surprise Of Season.

Harry Zurasky and Bill Getchy have been reserved niches in Shenango high school's hall of sports fame.

It was these two lads, Zurasky the passer, and Getchy the receiver, who collaborated to score the most important touchdown in the county's class "B" grid swirl this season as Shenango topped Bessemer yesterday afternoon, 7-2 in the biggest surprise of the year.

The win gave the Wildcats the championship.

The play came in the final seconds of the game in true Merriwell fashion—coming after two heart-breaking penalties had sent Wildcats hopes plummeting and nullified a previous six-pointer.

Two aerials had paved the way. Runny Johns took a long heave to move the ball from his own 19 to the Shenango 41 and then Don Conahy who galloped to the Bessemer 9—a beautiful play. Here Zurasky flipped to Johns for a TD but an offside ruled out the play.

Another five-yard fine put the Nahs crew on the 14 and it was three that the boys made history.

Zurasky's pass to Tanner for the extra point was anti-climatic.

'Cats Carry Fight
Coach Eddie Nahas did a wonderful job of priming his charges for the upset. Giving away as much as 20 pounds per man in weight, the physically outmanned township eleven simply wouldn't give up and swarmed in viciously on the Cements.

The play of the ends, Ronny Johns and Tommy McGary, was magnificent, these two lads demonstrating some of the best offensive and defensive terminal maneuvering of the season in the county.

Bessemer hacked through for 15 first downs to 7 for the home eleven but made most of their gains between the 30 yard stripes. The closest they got to the Shenango final stripe was to the 13 yard line as the light but ferocious Wildcats fought like fury to repel them.

Bessemer Gets Safety
Bessemer's two points, which they got in the third quarter, seemed ample to win the game. It came when a bad pass from center sent the oval skidding into the Shenango end zone where Tanner fell on it.

Bessemer showed they could brace, too and held the 'Cats tight when they knocked on the touchdown door. In the first period they halted the Nahas lads on the 10 and on another occasion intercepted a pass to stifle a threat on the 9 after Zurasky had hit Cosen with a 31-yard aerial.

Regain County Title
The victory enabled Shenango to regain the "B" title which they surrendered to these same Cements in 1946, having won in '45. In 1944 the three schools, Shenango, Union and Bessemer all tied for the honors.

A crowd of 1,500 saw the game at the Shenango field and can

Ranking Golfers Open Ryder Play

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 1.—(INS)—Sixteen of the world's highest ranking golfers open the first Ryder cup matches in 10 years today with the British team shooting for its first victory over the United States on American soil.

The Portland golf links, scene of the international tournament, could almost have used rules for submarine golf at the end of a month of almost continuous rain—the wettest October in 65 years, more rain was forecast.

Because of the soupy terrain, officials agreed that a ball that becomes imbedded on the fairway or the green may be picked up and dropped, no nearer the hole.

Among other rules, provisions in many tournaments, are provided that if a ball makes holes in the green, they may be repaired with wooden tees and a ball may be cleaned on the greens.

As the top British linksmen squared off against the cream of American professionals, it becomes apparent that the players from the other side of the Atlantic were ready to play their hearts out.

PIAA Control Board To Meet

HARRISBURG, Nov. 1.—(INS)—The PIAA board of control will open a week-end meeting tonight at Harrisburg to consider an agenda heavy with proposed changes in by-laws, and the constitution and player eligibility problem.

Secretary Edmund Wicht said the board was expected to pave the way for districts to vote on a proposal to allow PIAA members to play schools not employing full-time teacher-coaches in the Pennsylvania Catholic Interscholastic Athletic association.

Under the board's stop-gap rule, PCIAA members and schools under the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic association would continue sports relations until March, 1948.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(INS)—The hapless Chicago Rockets today are still the only team in the All America Football Conference which has yet to win a game this season.

The Rockets, playing in the rain before a mere handful of spectators, were beaten 7-3 by the Brooklyn Dodgers at Ebbets field last night.

Last Night's Fights

(By International News Service)

BOSTON — Gus Mell, 150, TKO'd Tom Clario, 148, in eighth (10).

WORCESTER, Mass. — Stanley Sims, 163½, TKO'd Milton Lattimer, 151½ (8).

PHILADELPHIA — Nunzio Carto, 132½, decided Willie Alexander, 125 (8).

AUGUSTA, Me. — Billy Gillard, 129, knocked out Jean Barriere, 132, in second.

BALTIMORE — Sonny Boy West, 134 KO'd Vic Young, 130, in first.

Cerdan Gets Up To Whip Raadik

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—(INS)—European middleweight boxing champion Marcel Cerdan departed homeward today from his first Chicago ring appearance and a 10-round decision over Anton Raadik of Estonia.

If the furious 10th round in last night's bout had lasted a few more seconds, the aggressive Raadik might have scored one of the year's major fight upsets.

As it was, an alert cornerman lifted Cerdan from the flat of his back in time to hear himself announced the winner.

Cerdan went down on the Chicago Stadium ring floor three times in that blazing final period.

Nittany Lions Going For Sixth

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Nov. 1.—(INS)—Undeclared Penn State was gunning today for its 30th gridiron triumph in 61 years when the Nittany Lions met Colgate at State College.

The Lions, a top heavy favorite, also were shooting for their sixth victory of the season.

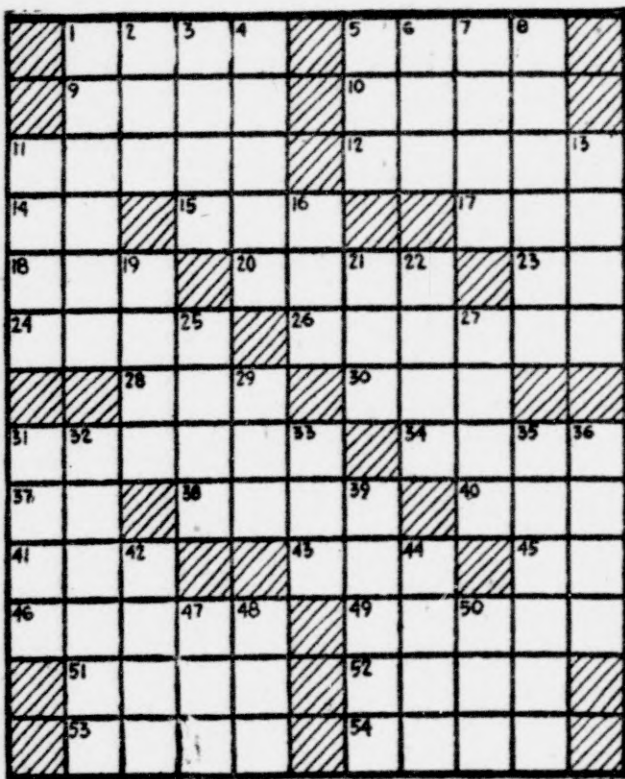

Coach Bob Higgins said he would start Francis Rogel of North Bradock in the fullback post for Penn State, replacing Joe Calone, sidelined with injuries. Raker Coach Paul Hixler said he would start Ted McLaughlin of Duquesne in the quarterback slot.

IRISH-NAVY SELLOUT

CLEVELAND, Nov. 1.—(INS)—One of the season's largest football crowds, which might approach the 85,000 mark when final returns were in, assembled in municipal stadium today for the 21st renewal of the Notre Dame-Navy football series.

Two sisters of a man slain over 15 years ago today expressed hope that a man involved in his slaying, who escaped from prison and lived an exemplary life, might go free.

Mrs. Will Johnson and Mrs. D. L. Hearn of Salisbury said they hoped James R. Collins, who was reapprehended early this week near Doylestown, Pa., would not have to serve the remainder of his sentence.

Claude B. Hurt, Mobile, Ala., banker and brother of the two women, was slain in a Mobile bank holdup. Collins was arrested, tried and sentenced to life imprisonment, but escaped 11 years ago.

Since his escape Collins married, raised a family and operated a successful business. He was to be returned to Mobile for re-confinement.

Invite Private Industry Into Atomic Research

Lilienthal Says Such Participation Necessary To Enjoy Monopoly In U.S.

DETROIT, Nov. 1. (INS)—Atomic Energy Commission Chairman David E. Lilienthal issued the commission's first invitation to private industry to begin taking an active part in atomic power development.

Lilienthal declared that without such participation and the accompanying breakdown of the government's monopoly America's hopes and needs in the atomic field would be "doomed to disappointment."

The invitation was part of a major statement of AEC policy contained in a speech by Lilienthal before the Economic Club of Detroit.

The Atomic Energy Chief also said:

1. Forcefully denied assertions abroad that the United States is withholding atomic power development from the suffering in coal-short Europe.
 2. Predicted that a demonstration atomic power plant, producing "a thousand kilowatts or so," would be developed within the next year or two—but warned that it will be only a demonstration unit and that practical atomic power plants probably are eight to ten years away.
 3. Revealed (without giving details) a "large-scale program of expansion" of U.S. atomic facilities so sweeping that it represents "a major effort, even for this country."
- Lilienthal pointed out that industry's position in the atomic energy program must be an advisory one for the present, but explained that he wanted private enterprise to be ready to take over as soon as feasible.

Issues Warning

He declared:

"It ought to be said, rather bluntly, that unless American industry and American engineering skills become an active living part of the Atomic Energy Commission's undertaking, the expectations and the need of this country in this field will be inevitably doomed to disappointment."

The policy statement called for industry's participation "from the very beginning" in the design and production of reactors for atomic power. It also painted a promising picture of private industrial possibilities in the manufacture of compounds containing radioisotopes.

Lilienthal repeatedly stressed that only by utilizing the ingenuity and competitive qualities of American private enterprise can the atomic program be developed fully.

He urged the training of non-government men "so that American industry can keep abreast of developments as they occur, and in this way help protect against any tendency toward inertia and complacency that the existence of the present government monopoly may bring with it."

He added that such inertia "is an ever present danger with all monopolies, governmental and private."

Duff Proclaims Armistice Day

Governor Urges Observance Of Tuesday, November 11, As Holiday

HARRISBURG, Nov. 1. (INS)—Gov. James H. Duff has proclaimed Armistice Day, November 11, a holiday in Pennsylvania and urged citizens to dedicate themselves to preserving the peace.

"Despite the occurrence of a second and more devastating World War between Nov. 11, 1918 and the present, the annual observance of Armistice Day has lost none of its original significance," the governor declared. "In fact, World War II, and the development of the current post-war period have served rather to intensify that significance."

"In observing Armistice Day this year and in the future it is vitally important that Pennsylvanians and all other Americans rededicate themselves to make permanent the hard-won peace that has followed the cessation of hostilities in World War II."

"That peace has not yet been consolidated."

Pennsy Reveals Ultramodern Car

A completely new kind of railroad passenger car, a "recreation car" pioneering such facilities for passengers' enjoyment and comfort as a small newsreel theatre, a game and reading room, a children's nursery, and a buffet-lounge in modern club styling, was announced today by the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Three of the new recreation cars are now being constructed to go into service initially on "The Jeffersonian," fast overnight reclining seat coach train between New York and St. Louis, at the turn of the year. Utilizing many postwar advances in the car builders' art, they are being built to Pennsylvania Railroad specifications by the American Car & Foundry Company, Raymond Loewy Associates suggested the general layout of the car and are handling the decorative features.

Around Hollywood

By JOHN TODD
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 1. (INS)—It must be regretfully reported today that Helen Hayes continues to turn a deaf ear to Hollywood's blandishments.

M-G-M is the latest studio to attempt to woo the famous stage star back to the screen which once gave her its highest honor, an academy award.

Helen Says No

The part Metro had in mind for her was the Mother Superior in "Vespers In Vienna," which is due to go before the cameras in December.

Miss Hayes said thanks, but no, she was completely happy in the east, where she continues to win new laurels on the stage. It must be ten years now since Miss Hayes graced our town with her art.

Stress Importance Of Bond For School

County Superintendent of Schools John C. Syling stressed the necessity of the $100,000 school bond issue for Neshannock township, Wednesday night at a meeting in the Glen-More school.

Employment Hits New Fall Record

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. (INS)—The census bureau reported today that national employment in October reached 59 and one-quarter million—a new high for this time of the year.

The October employment was 300,000 above September and the highest since summer when seasonal farm workers and students joined the nation's labor force.

All of the rise in October took place in non-agricultural industries where employment reached a level of 50 and one-half million persons—400,000 more than in September.

Employment in agriculture in October was estimated at eight million, 600 thousand, a drop of about 100,000 from the September level.

The bureau said that unemployment dropped by about 200,000 between September and October to a level of one million, 700 thousand—the lowest recorded since November, 1945.
